Strength to Hold. Power to Connect.

Resources, on their own, do not hold value. It takes someone to discover them, nurture them, and deliver them to where they're needed. Only then do they become true power.

We engage with world-class assets, connecting the value chain from upstream to downstream through investment and trading. Because we stand on fair ground, we can bridge gaps others cannot. Because we stand between diverse partners and users, we find the right answer for every moment. Because we hold the assets, we turn the value dormant in the world into power for society.
